

Inhalt

Intro
Jürgen Stoldt	3
Politik
Le retour des populismes   Raymond Weber	5
Die Globalisierung frisst ihre Eltern   Jürgen Stoldt	7
Nichts vorzuwerfen!   forum	10
Ernährung
Die Sushi-Frage   Jeannette Muller	15
Faktuell
Das Ende eines Dogmas   Fernand Fehlen	18
Medien
Fake news war gestern   Céline Flammang	19
Strandgut	21
Expats
Hochqualifizierte Migration in Luxemburg   Samra Cindrak	23
Die besseren Migranten   Samra Cindrak	26
Le 27 <sup>e</sup> canton   Patrik Ferregutti	28
“The temptation to join a bubble is high”   Susanne Habran-Jensen (Interview)	30
Online Community   forum	32
Le Luxembourg dans la course aux talents – un défi qui n’en est pas un ?   Joël Machado	34
Attirer c’est bien, retenir c’est mieux   Michaela Hornak, Hoai Thu Nguyen Doan	36
Recruter à l’international   Cécile Lorenzini, Jeremy Coxet	41
Zoom sur une expat heureuse et engagée   Marie-Adélaïde Leclercq-Olhagaray	42
Das luxemburgische Schulsystem im Spiegel zunehmender Internationalisierung   Claudia Hartmann-Hirsch	43
British Ladies Club   Jugera Ibrahim (Interview)	47
La culture comme espace de rencontre   Radek Lipka	50
Un public international et complexe   Anna Loporcaro	54
Glossar   Samra Cindrak	56
Project Lux   Tony Lux	58
Religion
Les droits humains: réflexions inspirées des enseignements de la Foi Bahá’ie   Esther Zana-Nau	59
Kino
Eine Parabel rund um Identität, Inklusion und Andersartigkeit   Yves Steichen	63
Literatur
Frisch gedruckt	65
Impressum	66

Cover

Joana Giesen is a graphic designer based in Luxembourg with a passion for illustration and art. After graduating from the art section at the Lycée Michel Rodange in Luxembourg, she studied two years of game art at Rubika in France, where she learned to draw digitally and create 3D models of her creations. Then she decided to continue her studies in graphic design at the BTS in Luxembourg and is now in the second year. From painting with watercolours and ink to creating logos and layouts, she combines her analogue and digital knowledge to create something unique with a hand-drawn feel to it.

The figures on the cover have specific colours based on where they are from. For the most part the figures with the same colour stay closer together and create a group. Some figures decide to leave their colour and mix into other groups where they definitely stand out more, but still mix well into other cultures. Those figures are the expats deciding to leave the comfort of being surrounded with the culture and language that they know best.

See her work here:

www.behance.net/giesenjofcd5